Letters to The Editor

Dear Towns County residents,

Members of the Towns County Fire Corps support the Towns County Fire Department by raising funds in addition to undertaking tasks, i.e. station upkeep, equipment purchases, etc.

Our two major fund-raising events are Fire in the Mountain Chili Cook-Off & 5K Run scheduled for May 29th, 2010, and the Brasstown Big Band concert scheduled for Mother's Day, Sunday, May 9th at 3 PM. The concert is a benefit performance by members of the Brasstown Big Band under the leadership of Dr. Benny Ferguson, Dean of the College of Fine Arts at Young Harris College. All the money collected from ticket sales goes to support the Towns County Fire Rescue Department.

The concert will be held at the Anderson Music Hall at the Georgia Mountain Fairgrounds. Tickets are priced at $5, $10, $15 and $25. The $25 tickets are considered "Patron Tickets" and entitle the holder to attend the "Meet the Band" reception at the conclusion of the concert, including refreshments.

How to purchase tickets: (1) Drive to the Georgia Mountain Fairgrounds office (Hwy. 76 W) and purchase a ticket (706-896-4191). (2) Go online to www.georgiamountainfairgrounds.com and purchase a ticket.

Regardless of how you obtain your ticket, I can assure you, your family and your friends will have a great time and enjoy themselves listening to the "Big Band Sound."

Please consider contacting your friends with this information and encourage them to attend the concert and support the Fire Rescue Department. For other information go to townscountyyfirecorps.org.

Sincerely,

Bill Wendel, Concert Chairperson
Vice President, Towns County Fire Corps

Thank you

The Towns County Lions Club would like to thank the citizens, businesses and visitors of Towns County. We recently held our White Cane Days and while we may have been somewhat disruptive to your schedule on those days, you gave generously and many people will be helped by this gesture. You have aided the Lions Club with our goal to give the gift of sight. We sincerely thank you.

Terry Rogers qualifies for Senate race

continue to spend our way out of the mess in which we find ourselves. I'm running for State Senate in order to take business sense to the capitol. A wise man once told me, 'If your out-go exceeds your income, it will lead to your downfall.' This is the position in which we now find ourselves."

Rogers specifically stated that the lack of a conservative voting record, no business experience, and ties to special interests by the incumbent Senator were the deciding factors in his entering the race. "When you realize that a first-term State Senator has taken over $50,000 in contributions from corporate lobbyists and special interest groups in less than 15 months in office, as has the current 50 district Senator, it causes one to question where that Senator's loyalties are when it comes time to vote." Rogers continued, "An independent voice not beholden to big corporate money, is critical to protect northeast Georgia values and interests."

Rogers is founder and managing partner of Diversified Technologies. His company brokers recycled plastics throughout the United States. Rogers and his wife Laura have five children. They live on their farm north of Clarkesville, in Habersham County and attend Clarkesville Presbyterian Church where Rogers is an elder.

Extension Tips

by Robert Brewer

Tips for the landscape and garden

Some trees that are messy and weak-wooded include silver maple, hybrid poplar, mimosa, weeping willow, black cherry, and Eastern cottonwood. Better choices are Chinese elm, Japanese zelkova, pin oak, red maple, river birch, tulip poplar, and willow oak.

Prune out winter-killed wood on trees and shrubs by cutting back to green wood after new growth begins.

If you love to garden, but don't have a lot of time, choose plants that are easy to maintain. Plants that do not need a deadheading include begonia, Impatiens, coleus, alyssum, ageratum, lobelia, Vinca and salvia.

Caladiums need generous amounts of water and fertilizer to encourage continuous productions of new leaves during the summer. Apply a light, side dressing of 5-10-5 fertilizer every two weeks, and water thoroughly to encourage bright-colored foliage.

Pinch back annuals when 4 to 6 inches high to promote bushy growth. Some that require pinching are zinnias, petunias, and salvia.

Impatiens are the most satisfactory annual for use in shady areas. Begonias, coleus, ageratum, salvia, and Vinca prefer light shade (5 to 6 hours of sunlight).

To grow annuals in pots on the patio, use a light-weight soil mixture. Keep the plants well watered, as container-grown plants dry out fast. Apply water soluble fertilizer according to package directions every two weeks.

The Peace rose cultivar is the flower-of-choice for special Peace Gardens being built around the world. Introduced in the United States 50 years ago after being smuggled out of France in a brief case, this rose stood as a symbol of hope and has become one of the world's most favorite roses.

Watch for and control black spot and powdery mildew on rose foliage.

Lacebugs feed on azaleas, pyracantha and other woody plants, causing a gray, blached or stippled appearance on the upper surface of the leaves. Take steps to control them as soon as you notice the damage.

Mid- to late-June is an excellent time to take softwood cuttings of shrubs to start new plants. Some shrubs propagated in this manner are spirea, boxwood and azalea.

The use of milky spore disease (Bacillus popilliae) for Japanese beetle control is most effective in neighborhoods where most residents use it. Otherwise, Japanese beetle larvae hatching in other yards will reinfest your property.

Go play in the yard

It has been a mighty long time since I have heard a mother say, "You younguns go play in the yard." I hear mothers say, "Go to your room and study, watch TV, listen to music or play electronic games," but I never hear anyone say, "go play in the yard". "The yard" has been replaced with "your room." The yard used to be "the place." We really don't have yards anymore; we have lawns and gardens. Many of you will remember yards. Here in the mountains we had a plot of land around the house that was called a yard. Now most yards did not have grass. In fact, it was as smooth and hard as a concrete patio. The yard was the place for activities of all kinds. You swept the yard with a broom and kept all loose dirt off the yard. All games where you "threw it", "batted it", "bounced it", "pitched it", "kicked it" or "shot it" took place in the yard. Thus, all ball games, marble games, horseshoes, wrestling matches and boxing matches took place in the yard. The yard was the place where you drew off squares (blocks) and played hopscotch and jumped rope. The yard was a social place where "younguns" learned how to court. Mom and dad were usually inside watching from the window while listening to the radio, or sitting in the swing on the front porch. We no longer are "outsiders". We have become "insiders."

Boys and girls play nearly all their games indoors under roofs. They are in the arcades and game rooms in the malls. We have put roofs over our football and baseball fields. We have enclosed stadiums and gyms and have frozen ponds indoors where folks skate and play games. We have brought the outdoors indoors. As a result groups of neighbor children playing in the yard are no longer part of our landscape. It is rare to drive through a neighborhood and see a gang of kids playing a good ole-fashioned game of any kind. The only thing the yard is popular for anymore is "Yard sales." When you go out driving early on Saturday morning I would urge extreme caution. Those yard sale lookers may stop without warning, show up in your lane of traffic (they work both sides of the road from the middle) or sometimes they may jump out of their car and dart across the road in front of you. These people are very serious and very committed to getting ahead of the rest of the crowd. If you really want to have some activity in your yard, just advertise a yard sale. You don't hear too much about the barnyard or junkyard anymore but yard sales have captured the day. Most of the preachers I know wish folks would get up and out on Sunday morning like yard sale seekers do on Saturday morning. Our churches have a lot of treasures to offer on Sunday morning. You may find the "Pearl of great price" and the deed to your very own mansion in glory. If you are looking for old things, you won't be disappointed because we always tell the old, old story of Jesus and His love. "You younguns need to go play in the yard."
