Softball: Towns County recognizes eight on Senior Night

Seniors Breanna Cook, Vanessa Floyd, Kennedy Henson, Kenzie Livingston, Abby Mauldin, Remington Parker, Natalie Smith and Jayce Young will be sorely missed.

While the eight seniors have accounted for the majority of Towns County's on-field production, their leadership and experience won't be as easily replaced.

According to head coach Clay Livingston, their four years in the program have lifted Towns County Softball to new heights.

"[These seniors] have done an amazing job with changing the expectations of the program," he said. "And I don't mean just about winning and losing, but what the investment by each player should be as our approach to practice and how much we do in the offseason."

"[They are an] amazing group of high-character and hard-working young ladies."

In the regular season finale at Lowell Nicholson Field, the Lady Indians fell 11-1 to Lincoln County. Kenzie Livingston finished 3-for-3 while Rylie Livingston, Parker and Mauldin chipped in one hit each.
